

4 Field assistant positions - Mandrillus Project

Role description - The Mandrillus Project aims at longitudinally studying wild mandrills in Southern Gabon. We are currently recruiting 4 Volunteer Field Assistants for our 2023-2024 field season, through the CIRMF (Centre International de Recherches Médicales de Franceville) and a volunteer contract. Two positions are available to start as early as possible and before June 2023 and two other positions will start in September 2023. These field assistant positions combine practical research with training and are entirely field-based.

Positions available - Four Volunteer Field Assistant positions are currently available running for 12 months (or more but not less); 2 positions from May-June 2023 to May-June 2024 and 2 others from September 2023 to August 2024.
